Allied Editions returns to Frieze London this year, staged in Regent's Park from 14 – 18 October 2026.

Hepworth Wakefield returns as the guest regional partner for this edition of the fair, joining forces with Camden Art Centre, Institute of Contemporary Arts (ICA), Serpentine, South London Gallery, Studio Voltaire, Whitechapel Gallery in the co-curated booth (P02).

The Serpentine Trust is a limited company registered in England under number 2150221
It is an educational charity which is supported using public funding by Arts Council England
Registered charity number 298809

Initiated in 2011 and supported by Frieze, the collective host a shared stand at Frieze London, showcasing specially commissioned works for sale by prominent contemporary artists. All works are donated by the artists to raise funds for these unique independent spaces.

Allied Editions will feature limited edition artworks including prints, ceramics, and specially designed furniture by international artists.

Highlights this year include the re-release of the 'Little Pig' piggybanks created by Grayson Perry, Cecily's Brown print The Agitated Stroke and a David Hockney vase to celebrate the legacy of Serpentine, alongside a limited-edition Coco de Mer seed inspired stool designed by 2026 Pavilion architects LANZA atelier.

This year South London Gallery will present four works in total including two new editions by David Austen and Paulo Nimer Pjota, along with two works by artists Chila Kumari Burman and Yinka Shonibare.

The ICA will present five works, including a new silkscreen print edition by Brazilian multidisciplinary artist Laura Lima, launched to coincide with her first solo exhibition in London, The Drawing Drawing. The edition features Lima's sketch for her major site-specific commission at the ICA which reimagined the conventions of a life drawing class, with a life model and artists unpredictably orbiting one another on mechanised platforms.

Further editions launched at the fair include an edition from Ida Ekblad ahead of their exhibition WORLD'S LARGEST METAPHOR opening at The Hepworth Wakefield this November.

Bettina Korek, CEO of Serpentine says: "Artist editions remain essential to Serpentine's fundraising and help to build our community by making collecting not only accessible, but a celebration of the artists generosity. This support ensures Serpentine remains free and open to all to visit. We could not be happier to return to Frieze London for another collaboration with Allied Editions this year, presenting works by Amar Kanwar and Justin Caguiat, currently on view at Serpentine, alongside other leading artists."

Olivia Colling, Executive Director, The Hepworth Wakefield said: "The Hepworth Wakefield has worked with a host of international, contemporary artists on a programme of hugely successful exhibitions. We continue to build an impressive portfolio of artist editions, produced through these collaborations. When you purchase an edition from The Hepworth Wakefield, you are directly supporting the gallery's work as a charity. We are delighted to partner with Allied Editions at this year's Frieze London and look forward to exclusively launching new editions by artists including Sarah Lucas and Lindsey Mendick."

Bengi Ünsal, Director of ICA said: "Artists editions directly support the ICA's work to commission ambitious new work, create the conditions for artistic experimentation, and nurture the next generation of creative talent. We are delighted to join forces again with Allied Editions at Frieze London."

Margot Heller, Director, South London Gallery says: "We are delighted to return to the Allied Editions booth at Frieze London this year. Allied Editions provides a unique opportunity for public institutions to bring works by fantastic artists to a wider audience, and to boost fund-raising efforts. This year we are pleased to present new editions by Paulo Nimer Pjota and David Austen, as well as works by Chila Kumari Burman and Yinka Shonibare, with proceeds from sales directly supporting our work, both with artists and with our local communities.

Joe Scotland, Director of Studio Voltaire, said: "Allied Editions is an important way visitors to Frieze can support public galleries while purchasing exceptional works by leading international artists. The funds raised at the stand make an important contribution to supporting the gallery, exhibitions and public programmes of these not-for-profit spaces."
